Colchester County High School for Girls win the Senior Public Speaking Competition

Three girls from the Colchester County High School for Girls have won the Senior Youth Speaks competition at Colchester Town Hall organised by Forum. They beat five other local schools.

This Senior competition, open to young people between 14-17 years old aims to give young people an experience of speaking on a public platform as members of a cohesive team. The winning team were, Chairperson Saffron Blacker, Speaker Lauren Barlow who also won the Best Speaker award, and Proposer of Vote of Thanks Aurora Barclay-Ede. Speaking about "The F Word" they told of how the word Feminism is now regarded as taboo despite the fact that women have still a long way to go to get equality. The winners progress to a district final to be held at Essex County Hall, Chelmsford at 7pm on the 11th March. The District winners continue on to Regional heats and, if successful, eventually arrive at the National Final which is organised by Rotary International of Great Britain and Ireland and will be held in Bentwood on the 10th May this year. Thanks to all in Forum who assisted with another very successful event.

PRESIDENTIAL RAMBLINGS

A two week holiday over Christmas and the New Year saw all of us back with enthusiasm in January – half way through the Rotary year.

An interesting talk about the Institute and how it has developed over the last few years had some surprising facts. They are employing forty two teachers just to ensure the incoming students are educated in Maths and English to the correct level. Gone are the days when pensioners can learn welding and bricklaying in the evenings! Much has changed since I took my HNC in Civil Engineering in Chelmsford.

The business meeting included a interesting talk on Visioning and with an evening to be set aside shortly to delve further into what could alter the Club's thinking on its future progress spice will be added to the second six months.

We are again in the Youth speaks season and if the senior debates next week are as good as the intermediates then it will be an excellent completion. With the same two schools usually winning either or both competition possibly we need to consider how some of the other schools can be improved to give all an equal chance.

8th January 2015 Meeting report

A presentation by Alison Andreas, Principal and CE of Colchester Institute

Alison explained the Vision for the college -
 “for Colchester Institute to be widely acclaimed as an outstanding provider of highly responsive, top quality vocational education and training; raising aspirations and building brighter futures for its students & the communities it serves.”

She stated the values of the Institute which include placing the success and wellbeing of students and an outstanding student experience at the heart of our choices, decisions and priorities; having high expectations and aim for excellence in all aspects of our work; valuing and recognising the skills and significant contribution made by all staff; respecting each other, promoting equality, diversity and breaking down barriers to success and acting responsibly, with honesty, integrity and openness, safeguarding the future health and success of the organisation.

Alison has worked in senior positions at the Institute for 16 years. Born in Dunton Bassett in Leicestershire, gaining a Degree in French from Oxford University, Alison was appointed as Principal and CE in April 2014 and has skilfully picked up the baton passed to her by the previous Principal Danny Clough (past member of Forum) and John Threlfall (Forum member). The plans she and her team have for the Institute are immense but she has everything under way and explained some of them to us today.

CI has around 12000 students of which 4500 are FTE 16-19 yr olds, 4000 adults, 1500 apprentices, 500 full cost students working from 10 delivery sites across Essex. Their turnover is £42 million.
 The Institute is acclaimed as an outstanding provider of highly responsive top quality vocational education and training. Its Mission statement is “To continue to develop a learning culture that is inclusive and aspirational and which focuses on assuring the best possible outcomes for every student. This means successful achievement of qualifications, progression to the highest possible level of study and a positive destination for every College leaver.”

There are huge redevelopment plans in place with Phase I already complete (rebuilding the front and entrances)' Phase III South Wing - under construction (opening Sept 15) and Phase II - Funding - still being discussed and secured.

If you ask Alison what she likes best about her work, she'll smile and tell you it's all about the people. And, when you walk around the three campuses at Colchester, Clacton and Braintree, you realise she means it. The staff know her and greet her with affection, as do many of the students, and they're all on first name terms. Not bad when you consider that, since her appointment in April last year, Alison is managing 1000 FTE staff and 12,000 students and she's still smiling.

Alison is justly proud of the work of her staff and knows the direction they are taking makes them fit for education and vocational training for the 21st Century.

Meeting report - January 15th

A Visioning Process

by Nick Clarke

The visioning process could be a giant step forward for us in what is already a very strong club. In fact it tends to be the strong clubs that adopt the process. Weaker clubs and, by definition, these are the ones that need the process in place, are often less keen to adopt the work but this is only a generalisation.

The District Visioning Team of which I am a part have led many big exercises in clubs over the last 2 years and the responses have been very good but the aim of the talk today is just to give you a taster.

Paul Harris, our founder, said: “Rotary is not an organisation for retrospection. It is rather one who’s worth and purpose lie in future activity rather than in past performance”

In other words success in clubs comes from looking forward and not resting on what you have always done in the past

Change is important and a favourite saying is: “If you always do what you have always done you will always get what you have always had”

Visioning is therefore about newness, change, freshness, looking forward and at what we want to become.

We did a visioning exercise in January at a club and the response from the club read as follows “We just wanted to thank you and all your team for facilitating such an excellent Visioning session for us last Saturday. 33 members were present which we were delighted with. The feedback received thus far is exceptionally positive in terms of the professional way it was run - its strength was its simplicity. We now have base-line data to proceed to consider how we can benefit going forward.”

Visioning is:

- A structured process to help members develop a plan for the future of their club
- A way to help move a club up the “vibrancy scale”
- A process that will allow all the members to have their say -not just the chosen few
- A totally democratic process driven by the members, the quiet ones, the noisy ones, the senior ones and the junior ones
- Looks at processes & projects across all avenues of service including Club Service
- Fun and very engaging

Visioning is not

- District led and something you will be told to do
- Just about getting new members or a quick fix.

The background to the visioning concept is that it started in 2002 in District 5960, Minnesota; It was developed by Rotarians Steve & Terri Wilcox who adapted the professional techniques they use in helping business clients.

The process works in business and I have used it often with great success but it is voluntary and cannot be imposed on anybody.

So why should a visioning plan be needed?

- The tradition of Rotary annual cycles, constantly changed programmes etc have not always been effective especially when the hierarchy in Rotary is always on the change.
- Not all the members have a say in what is happening.
- The future retention of members depends on their involvement and commitment to ideas that they have been involved in.
- Membership does increase and so does the variety of projects.
- It does give greater vibrancy to a club.
- Optimises use of resource and people.
- Provides long term direction.

- Creates a frame work to establish goals.

So what happens after the taster session?

- The club members either agree or disagree on inviting the visioning team which is about 4 or 5 people to deliver the programme
- A date is fixed with members & the District team
- About 35 members max will represent the club, this is the ideal number only because with more people it will take more time to complete the exercise
- The session lasts approx. 3 hours and is facilitated by the visioning team
- After a short introduction a questionnaire is completed by each member, this covers all the avenues of service. You are asked to imagine you are in 2020 and you are looking back on what you have achieved over the last 5 years. You have therefore achieved your dream and you are simply asked to say what your dream was in each of the avenues of service. You are looking back and not forward, your dream has been achieved whatever it is and this is the key to the whole process in that you say what your ideal scenario is for the club and you. It is about imagining where you are in 5 years' time. Being in a time warp and looking back asking yourself "this is what we achieved over the last 5 years" e.g. you will not say "I want to have a link with a school in Swaziland". You will say "We established a link with Swaziland"
- The members then decide by a personal voting system what thoughts are most attractive to them. The ideas that got low scores are eliminated and you then vote again to get a clearer focus on the projects that seem more popular.
- You vote on the best dreams and in effect this becomes the proposed vision of the club
- Members then take this work back to their full club and present it to seek a further consensus from all the remaining club members

- A visioning champion is appointed to act as a mentor for the President to keep the club on track together with the committee chairs
- Once the vision is identified the club then sets about deciding how it achieved it and these then become the goals and processes for action by the committee.

Visioning will encourage you to think about where you are now and how your club will look in 5 years' time. A vision is what you want to become, the art of seeing the invisible, the big question is about how will you get there and what it will feel like when you have arrived.

There are always risks & costs to a programme of action but they are far less than the long range risk and cost of comfortable inaction.

Oh, and one final thought for any that think this may not really be for them,

Nick
Clarke

"A ship in harbour is always safe but that is not what ships are for" similarly "if your boat doesn't come in then you have to swim out to it"

Awards Evening 2015 - Final Celebration for Alderman Blaxill School

On Thursday 4th December Alderman Baxill School held the final event in its 59 year history at the school site in Paxman Avenue. Mr Jones, Associate Headteacher of Alderman Blaxill School introduced the evening by saying that it was an important event because they were celebrating the achievements of the schools final GCSE students.

John Russell

The students who took their GCSE examinations in the summer attended an Awards Evening to collect their certificates. Each student was congratulated with enthusiastic applause from their parents, former teachers, Members of the Alderman Blaxill Governing Body and other guests as they collected their certificates. The Special Guest for the Evening was John Russell, from The Rotary of Colchester Forum Club which has always been a supporter of Alderman Blaxill School before it closed its doors for the last time in August 2014. The Rotary of Colchester Forum Club are also supporting the Stanway Federation Learning Centre that opened in September on the site and in January will be providing the judges for a Young Apprentice competition for Gifted and Talented students in local secondary schools. After presenting the certificates Mr Russell then presented the Special awards to recognise the exceptional achievements of students who were the last group to take examinations at the school. In his address to the audience he reminded the students about how important it was to have the right attitude to respond to challenges that you face in life.

Mr Jones said that he was very pleased that a third of the students from the final year were now taking A levels at the sixth form college and that the majority of students were continuing to study in further education.

The “WAY AHEAD” at ST BENEDICT’S CATHOLIC COLLEGE

Trish Axtell of the College said: “ Giving our students the opportunity to meet people who are involved in the world of work on a daily basis is always extremely valuable. A very worthwhile experience which was enjoyed by students and staff alike “.

22nd January 2015 Meeting report

BUSINESS MEETING by Colin Bennett

Secretary. Michael reported that out of 6 candidates, David Ellis was voted as RIBI president for 2017/18. Michael reported that Nick would be covering over the next 3 weeks whilst he is away.

Club Service. Tony Dutch reminded us that the venue for the evening meeting of 29th January has changed to Play Golf.

International. Steven Penrose reminded members that tickets need to be sold ASAP for the barn dance. Tickets - David Boyden. Mary Beverley requests donations for the raffle.

Youth and Vocational Services. Peter Powell reported and was congratulated on a good evening last night at the Intermediate Youth Speaks. A discussion ensued about creating a more level playing field since the competition has become something of a '2 horse race'.

Community Service. Bill Frame reported total station collection of £1068.08 for CLIC Sergent and expressed thanks to those who helped achieve this. He also reminded those members who have not paid for 42nd Street tickets should do so.

President. On President Peter's invitation, Nick Clarke gave a resume on his talk last week about Visioning. There followed a lively discussion amongst members. Some expressed reservations that the District involvement would impair our independence. Others expressed the view that the exercise should focus on younger members. These concerns were effectively laid to rest on the basis that Forum has never been a club to rest on its laurels. A show of hands gave a convincing demonstration that the majority were happy to proceed, convinced that there is little or nothing to be lost, but potentially much to be gained.

It was agreed that a meeting date(s) would be emailed to members by Nick and that the venue would be the Rose & Crown and probably on a Thursday evening without a meal.

AOB: John Threlfall reminded us that extra names for our Norfolk weekend would be welcome.

Colchester Royal Grammar win Public Speaking Competition Again

Three Year 9 pupils from Colchester Royal Grammar School have won the Intermediate Youth Speaks competition that has just taken place in the Colchester Town Hall. Speaking about "The Importance of Languages" they beat seven other local schools.

Mayor Cllr. John Elliot with CGRS Winners
and Harry Hesketh-Peterson

This intermediate speaking competition, open to young people between 11-13 years old and which we organise aims to give young people an experience of speaking on a public platform as members of a cohesive team. Each team decides on the topic upon which they will speak and are given a limited time to do so. The winning team from the Colchester Royal Grammar School were, Chairperson Charlie Price, Speaker Gorak Rajesh and Harry Hesketh-Peterson who proposed a vote of thanks.

Jennie Hunt, Chair of the Judging Panel, said afterwards "The teams seem to progress further every year. In fact I would go as far as to say this was the best Intermediate competition yet". Other schools taking part were The Colchester Academy, St Mary's, St Helena, Philip Morant, Colchester County High School for Girls, Stanway and Gilberd. Each team was a credit to their school.

The Best Speaker award went to Anandamayi Hughes from the Colchester County High School for Girls who spoke on the subject of "The Bright Lights of Rio" highlighting ahead of the Rio 2016 Olympics the inequality of women in sport.

Mayor Cllr. John Elliot with Best Speaker Anandamayi Hughes

The winners progress to a district final to be held at Essex County Hall, Chelmsford at 7pm on the 4th March. Then those winners could eventually arrive at the National Final which is organised by Rotary International of Great Britain and Ireland and will be held on the 10th May this year. DP

29th January 2014 Meeting - PLAYGOLF CENTRE, BAKERS LANECROSSRAIL - Patrick Griffin

Crossrail is a high capacity urban railway across London from east to west. It will shorten journey times across London. At present Maidenhead to Liverpool Street takes 65 minutes, with Crossrail it will be 51 minutes. Colchester to Heathrow is now 103 minutes and will be 89 minutes.

The final route had been worked out and Royal Assent given to a Bill in Parliament in July 2008. The Crossrail link will join up the GER route in East Anglia. There will be a southern branch to the North Kent line and the western link will be to Maidenhead via Heathrow.

It would mean constructing 42 km of new tunnel, 8 new underground stations, upgrading 28 existing stations and 90 km of rail network to be updated. 8 million tonnes of material will need to be excavated. (The excavated material is being transported to Wallasey Island to help form a wetland nature reserve for the RSPB). The whole project will cost £42 billion and employ 14,000 people. 426 apprenticeships have been made available to young people. There is a new tunnelling training facility at Ilford especially to develop skills in what is a growing field. Nearly 9,000 workers have had specialist training there so far. 750 of these had previously been long-term unemployed.

Once the scheme is completed it will be able to take 24 trains an hour. Each train will be able to carry 1,500 passengers. The rolling stock is being built in Derby by the Bombardier company which will support another 1,000 UK jobs.

During the excavation work many archaeological discoveries were made. They found an old Crosse and Blackwell cellar near Tottenham Court Road station full of stone jars abandoned when they adopted glass containers. They found a Black Death burial ground at Charterhouse. They found a Roman road surface near Liverpool Street Station with nearby Roman rubbish pits containing coins and jewellery enabling it to be dated to 228 AD. They also found thousands of burials in Bedlam churchyard of those who had died in the madhouse of St Mary of Bethlehem.

MOCK JOB INTERVIEWS AT THE GILBERD

On Wednesday 14th January, Ray Gamble, Tony Dutch and Cas Morehen were amongst 52 people who helped out by providing over 500 year 10 and year 11 students from the Gilberd School with the experience of a mock job interview. 500 students interviewed in just one day! The day kicked off at 8am with a breakfast buffet of bacon rolls and Danish pastries. Just what the doctor ordered!

We had been provided in advance with a Personal Statement from each of our interviewees. This certainly helped us to prepare by giving us some background information on each student and an idea of what their intended "next steps" were.

A 15 minute interview was followed immediately by 5 to 10 minutes of feedback from the interviewer.

As with all the schools we have been involved with so far this academic year, the teachers at the Gilberd had worked hard to prepare their students for the interviews. The aptitude, attitude and appearance of the students reflected this.

Overall another enjoyable day helping students to prepare themselves for one of the most important experiences of their life, be it for a place at college, an apprenticeship with an employer or a part-time job whilst at college.

And the feedback from the students?

"I think the mock interview layout was rather good and it helped me a lot as my interviewer asked me about my future plans. The interview was very helpful the paperwork I was given was very positive and had comments about how my interview went. It is an worth attending as it has helped me to prepare for my College interviews" Yanislav Yurkevych.

"Today was good, they were friendly and helped me prepare for my sixth form interview. The person that interviewed me told me my strengths and weaknesses in an interview, how I should respond to certain questions and that I should set my bar high to get where I want to. I took everything that she told me on board and should definitely improve next time I have an interview, which should be sometime soon" Joshua Bailey

"I think that the interviews that went on today were excellent as they gave us an experience of what a real work interview will be like. The interviewers were friendly and helped me prepare for any interview I will take later on in life. The interviewer went through a few questions, and judged on how well I did. This will allow me to see what I was good at, and let me know what to improve on. I think it is worth doing next year, as having an idea of what one will be like, is useful" Denis Green.

FREEWHEELERS - by Marilyn Ward

FORUM FREEWHEELERS' LUNCH - Thursday 29th January.

Tymperleys, the lovely Tudor building in Trinity Street, known since 1987 for its Clock Museum, has a new use. It is now a tea room/restaurant, being run by the Charrington family of Layer Marney Tower. Jill Parsonson suggested it as a venue for our lunch in January. Our thanks go to Jill for making all the necessary arrangements.

Nine Freewheelers (some others were absent due to illness) enjoyed a light lunch as the majority were dining out again in the evening at Rotary's fifth Thursday meeting. An ideal choice for many was the bowl of delicious warming soup, beautifully presented with rolls and cheese and pesto straws. It was good to welcome Jenny Pilgrim again and she told us of her work in establishing a Messy Church in Wivenhoe.

Sadly the outing ended with an accident to Pauline Jones who sustained a nasty injury to her leg, having slipped as she went downstairs. An ambulance was called and with some difficulty reached the restaurant very quickly. Jill accompanied Pauline to hospital where an anxious David was awaiting them. Despite all the bad publicity of late about the hospital, I understand the care she received there, which was extensive (96 stitches), could not be faulted. We all send her our best wishes for a full recovery.

A LETTER FROM NAIROBI.

Our daughter Fiona, who has recently moved to Nairobi with her family, has written the following article- at my request. (Marilyn Ward). Pictures show: Ben aged 7 & Tom aged 11 & their new school.

My New School Run by Fiona Dyas

While essentially my morning routine hasn't changed much from the UK - get up, get kids ready, take them to school - certain parts of it are extremely different!

Firstly my husband's company provides a driver, in fact they insist on it for safety. (Or, as he said, at least until they decide they can't afford it and it suddenly becomes safe!) Driving in Nairobi is like France, Italy and Portugal all rolled into one, with mad motorbikes and matatus, or minibuses, thrown in for good measure. I am starting to see some sort of system, which I think is "who dares wins"! So although I cannot drive myself anywhere, which can be frustrating, I can sit and be bemused by the traffic rather than getting angry at the wheel! Discussing traffic is the Nairobi equivalent of discussing the weather, as it is always busy, as you would expect in any big city I suppose.

Our route to school includes an unsurfaced road, as there is lots of new building taking place. This is manned by a guy who spends his days watering the dust down in return for a few shillings from passers-by. My driver tells me he makes a good living at it, and he is always smiling and saluting drivers, and works hard every day. When we arrive at school, the parking areas are manned by at least half a dozen men directing traffic. This is something that plenty of schools could do with in Britain! Then I can stop in the school club, which comprises a coffee shop, a gym and even a bar!

Lastly it takes a little less time to get ready to leave in the morning. My last school run in Scotland consisted of ski wear, hats, scarves, and gloves. Now Ben wears shorts and occasionally a short sleeved fleece if it's a bit chilly! Tom had no uniform at his Academy, and now has shirt, tie and school cap! But we are all adapting well to the changes, although I sometimes miss being able to pop a woolly hat over my hair when I hadn't had time to do it!

Future Events

Thurs 26 March, Fashion Show and Lunch. Stoke-by-Nayland Golf club. Cost £14 a head, set lunch with vegetarian option. Viv has reserved 12 tickets and sold 8 already.
